

BOOK REVIEW

Meeting Mental Health Needs: Service Delivery in Israel

Authors: Alexander M. Ponizovsky and Alexander Grinshpoon (Dept. of Mental Health Services, Ministry of Health, Jerusalem, Israel and others)

Patients with mental disorders have more unmet needs than healthy individuals, though; the frequency of unmet needs varies substantially across need domains. There is a major gap between a need for help and the actual help received from mental health services.

This book makes an important attempt to bridge the gap in the literature and provides a comprehensive resource for nearly every aspect of the subject.

This book also presents the negotiation of different perspectives for the evaluation of patient needs and describes a robust approach to addressing the specific needs of individuals with mental disorders.

The knowledge concentrated in this book will benefit mental health professionals, world over, who seek to address the needs of patients with mental disorders and disabilities.

Review provided by Prof. Eliezer Shalev MD, Dean, Rappaport Faculty of Medicine, Professor, Minnie and Ruben Finkelstein Academic Chair Technion-Israel Institute of Technology